

If you're shopping for a product that will give you Internet access,

ask yourself these questions and answers:

Can you do the same things online with an Internet access product that you can with a personal computer?

Internet access products are designed to provide more

Internet access products, however, may provide additional features

What are the limitations of the Internet access product?

As a limitation, the product may be limited to a specific the service it uses to connect to the Internet, for example, a small