Extension was filed just two business days before the deadline for Complaint Counsel's econometric rebuttal reports, yet such motion fails to explain Complaint Counsel's delay in bringing this issue before the Court.

ARGUMENT

Respondents have produced to Complaint Counsel everything that is required under 16 C.F.R. § 3.31(b)(3), and more than Complaint Counsel provided to Respondents with its expert reports. The purpose of providing computer information relied on by experts is to let the opposing party "know[] the precise methods employed in programming the computer as well as the [] ability to determine the effectiveness of the persons responsible for feeding data into the

Communication Co

(N.D. Ohio 1980). In that case, unlike here, the plaintiff provided the defendant with its expert report, but no computer information relied upon by the expert.

Horo, it is undisputed that Respondents timely provided computer programs and Complaint Counsel's experts presently have all of the underlying data, programs, specifications, and detailed instructions to replicate Dr. Baker's results and to examine its reliability and Dr. Baker's effectiveness. See Majerus Decl. ¶ 8 (Ex. 1) Complaint Counsel,

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Respondents respectfully request that this Court deny Complaint Counsel's Motion to Compel Discovery and for Extension of Time to File Econometric Rebuttal Report.
