

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
BEFORE THE FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION

¹ Commission Order Denying Expedited Motion For A Later Hearing Date (January 21, 2011).

On January 24, 2011, Respondent filed a motion for reconsideration of the January Order (“Respondent’s Motion”),² and on February 1, 2011, Complaint Counsel filed a memorandum in opposition to Respondent’s Motion. Respondent first suggests that the pending status of a number of motions and related discovery disputes supports reconsideration of the January Order. Respondent’s Motion at 2-5. Respondent also suggests that the fact that Respondent filed an application for ²This is Respondent’s third motion to the Commission seeking a delay in these proceedings. On November 15, 2010, the Commission denied Respondent’s Motion For Stay Proceeding. Commission Order Denying Motion For Stay of Proceeding (November 15, 2010).

³ First, on January 20, 2011, the Chief Administrative Law Judge (“ALJ”) denied Respondent’s Motion For An Order Compelling Discovery, and on February 1, 2011, denied Respondent’s application for review of that order. Second, on January 25, 2011, the ALJ denied Respondent’s Motion To Change Hearing Location, and on February 7, 2011, denied Respondent’s application for review of that order. Third, on January 25, 2011, the ALJ denied Respondent’s Expedited Motion To Amend the Schedule Order. Fourth, on February 3, 2011, the Commission issued an Opinion and accompanying Order that denied Respondent’s Motion To Dismiss, granted Complaint Counsel’s Motion for Partial Summary Decision, denied Respondent’s Motion to Disqualify the Commission, and granted Respondent’s Motion for Leave to File Limited Surreply Brief. These documents may all be reviewed on the page for this proceeding, at the following location: <http://www.ftc.gov/os/adjpro/d9343/index.shtml>.

* * *

As the foregoing discussion establishes, Respondent has not made the requisite showing of good cause to reconsider the Commission's J