RIN 3084-0098

Telemarketing Sales RuleAGENCY: Federal Trade Commission.ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: In this document, the Federal Trade Commission ("FTC" or "Commission"), pursuant to a directive in the Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2004, seeks comment on amendment of the Telemarketing Sales Rule ("TSR") to require sellers and telemarketers, in complying with the Do Not Call provisions of the TSR, to use a version of the National Do Not Call Registry obtained from the Commission no more than thirty (30) days prior to the date any call is made.

DATES: Written comments will be accepted until February 26, 2004. Due to the time constraints of this rulemaking procedure, the Commission does not contemplate any extensions of this comment period or any additional periods for written comments or rebuttal comment. Comments that are not timely submitted and directly responsive to the specific questions set forth in Section G of this document may not be considered.

ADDRESSES: Interested parties are invited to submit written comments. Comments should refer to "Monthly Registry Access, Project No. R411001" to facilitate the organization of comments. SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

On January 23, 2004, the President signed into law the Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2004. In enacting this legislation, Congress, et al., mandated that "not later than 60 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Federal Trade Commission shall amend the Telemarketing Sales Rule to require telemarketers subject to the Telemarketing Sales Rule to obtain from the Federal Trade Commission the list of telephone numbers on the 'do-not-call' registry once a month."¹ Accordingly, the Commission proposes to amend the TSR's Do Not Call safe harbor provision, 16 CFR 310.4(b)(3)(iv), to substitute the phrase "no more than thirty (30) days prior to the date any call is made" for the phrase that currently appears in that provision, which is "no more than three (3) months prior to the date any call is made." This proposed amendment would change, from quarterly to every thirty (30) days, the frequency with which telemarketers and sellers will have to purge from their calling lists numbers appearing on the National Do Not Call Registry. It also would enable a consumer to assert a valid Do Not Call complaint thirty (30) days after entering his or her number on the Registry, rather than waiting three months, as is currently the case. The text of section 310.4(b)(3)(iv) incorporating the proposed amendment appears at the end of this notice. This proposal is made pursuant to the directive of the Appropriations Act, and the Commission's authority under the Telemarketing and Consumer Fraud and Abuse Prevention Act,² and the Do Not Call Implementation Act.³

The Commission seeks comment on two specific issues relating to the proposed amendment. First, the proposal employs the phrase "thirty (30) days," rather than the term used in the statute, "monthly." Second, the Commission seeks input on the appropriate effective date for the proposed amendment.

1. Thirty (30) Days

The Commission believes that the term "thirty (30) days" achieves greater clarity and precision in effectuating Congress's twofold intent in the Appropriations Act—to shorten from quarterly to monthly the interval for telemarketers and sellers to purge registered telephone numbers from their calling lists, and to enable consumers to assert valid Do Not Call complaints thirty (30) days after entering their numbers on the Registry rather than having to wait three months.

The "thirty (30) days" language removes the ambiguity inherent in the term "monthly." This language would obviate questions such as whether a provision using the term "monthly" requires sellers and telemarketers to purge Registry numbers from their call lists every calendar month, whether "scrubbing" every 30 days would comply even if one did not scrub in February, and whether scrubbing in each calendar month without regard to the interval since the last scrub would comply. This clarification should provide a brighter line for industry, making compliance easier to effectuate. Moreover, it will prevent subverting the intent of the Registry by such stratagems as downloading the Registry at 11 p.m. on the last day of one calendar month and again at 12:01 a.m. on the first day of telephone numbers on the "do-not-call" registry once a month."⁷

2. The objectives of the proposed rule are discussed above. The legal basis for the proposed rule is the Appropriations Act of 2004, as discussed in F.1., above.

3. This proposed rule will primarily impact sellers that make interstate telephone calls to consumers (outbound calls) in an attempt to sell their products or services. Also affected may be firms that provide telemarketing services to others on a contract basis. In the proceedings to amend the TSR to include National Do Not Call Registry provisions, the Commission sought public comment and information on the number of small business sellers and telemarketers that would be impacted by those amendments.⁸ In its requests, the Commission noted the lack of publicly available data regarding the number of small entities. As the Commission received no further information in response to this request, the number of firms making outbound calls cannot be reliably estimated.⁹

4. (30)

The proposed rule does not impose any new, or affect any existing, reporting, disclosure, or specific recordkeeping requirements within the meaning of the Paperwork Reduction Act. The Commission does not believe that the modification requiring sellers

⁹ 68 FR 4580, 4667 (Jan. 29, 2003) (noting that Census data on small entities conducting telemarketing does not distinguish between those entities that conduct exempt calling, such as survey calling, those that receive inbound calls, and those that conduct outbound calling campaigns. and telemarketers to obtain data from the National Registry at a more frequent interval will create a significant burden on sellers or telemarketers that have already established systems to comply with the requirement in the existing TSR that requires accessing the Registry database on a quarterly basis. There will likely be additional costs, however, incurred to access the Registry every thirty days (effectively twelve (12) times per year) versus the current requirement of every three months (effectively four (4) times per year). As noted in the Statement of Basis and Purpose for the final amended TSR, the cost of accessing the National Do Not Call Registry to purge the numbers it contains from a company's calling list (separate from the fee paid to obtain the list) is around $100. Given this estimate, sellers and telemarketers seeking to comply with the proposed rule modification would pay $1200 per year ($100 per scrub x 12 scrubs per year) rather than $400 per year ($100 per scrub x 4 scrubs per year).

As noted below, the Commission seeks further comment on the professional skills that will be needed to implement the proposed rule, the actual costs or expenditures, if any, of more frequent scrubbing, and the extent to which these costs may differ or vary for small entities.

The FTC has not identified any other federal statutes, rules, or policies that would conflict with the requirement that sellers and telemarketers employ a version of the National Do Not Call Registry obtained from the Commission no more than thirty (30) days prior to the date any call is made. Although the Federal Communications Commission's ("FCC") rules pursuant to the Telephone Consumer Protection Act closely mirror the existing TSR language requiring scrubbing every three (3) months, they would not be in conflict with the proposed amendment. Rather, entities subject only to the FCC's telemarketing rules would be required to obtain information from the National Registry every three (3) months, while those entities subject to the FTC's rules would have to do so every thirty (30) days.

The Commission is requesting comment about any Federal, State, or local statutes or rules that may duplicate, overlap with, or conflict with the proposed rule.

The Appropriations Act of 2004 provides the Commission no discretion in the matter of whether to amend the TSR as described above. However, as noted above in Section B.2. of this Notice, the Commission requests factual information regarding the amount of time it reasonably will take sellers and telemarketers, including small businesses, to modify their business procedures and systems to be able to comply with the amended provision. Toward that end, the Commission has included in Section G below questions regarding alternatives to minimize the economic impact of the rule on small entities and questions requesting information that would assist it in determining the appropriate effective date for thisonths, whig/-a Reg3hisonths, wlsuinfsjT*(inf9 it in)TjT*(determin

5. What should be the effective date of the proposed amendment? Why? What, if any, factors might necessitate a particular amount of lead time for industry to be able to comply with the proposed amendment? With respect to any particular recommended effective date, what are the relative costs and benefits for industry and consumers?

6. Please describe what effect the proposed rule will have on small entities that engage in outbound telemarketing and are not exempt from the National Do Not Call Registry provision of the TSR.

7. Please describe what costs will be incurred by small entities to "implement and comply" with the rule, including expenditures of time and money for: any employee training; acquiring additional professional skills; attorney, computer programmer, or other professional time; and preparing and processing relevant materials.

8. Are there ways the proposed rule could be modified to reduce the costs or burdens for small entities while still being consistent with the mandate of the Appropriations Act?

9. Please identify any relevant Federal, State, or local statutes or rules that may duplicate, overlap or conflict with the proposed rule.

Accordingly, the Commission proposes to amend title 16, Code of Federal Regulations, as follows:

1. The authority citation for part 310 continues to read as follows:
