

George Washington University Bulletin

COMMENCEMENT NUMBER

June, 1922

PUBLISHED BY THE UNIVERSITY AT WASHINGTON, D. C., MARCH, JUNE, OCTOBER AND DECEMBER

Entered October 6, 1904, at Washington, D. C., as second-class matter under the Act of Congress of July 16, 1894

George Washington University Bulletin

COMMENCEMENT NUMBER

THE COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS TO THE GRADUATES

HONORARY DEGREE STATEMENTS

SUMMARY OF DEGREES CONFERRED

SUMMARY OF REGISTRATION 1921-22

JUNE, 1922

UNLOCKING THE HEART OF AMERICA

By HUSTON THOMPSON

Member Federal Trade Commission before the Graduating Class

Moreover, as man puts his hand to the machine the monotony of it in the long run is apt to blunt the development of his spiritual faculties until his soul finally succumbs to the power-gaining drive

His Utilitarian Majesty once more sitting in the seats of the mighty, while the classes and masses, automatically as it were, take their cue from him.

Let us poll some of the actors of the drama of life in which we live, and ask them what their contribution has been to the Man of Iron.

Come with me down into the legalist's office and propound the question to him. He will perhaps point with pride to his book shelves, where lie the voluminous output from our courts and commissions, consisting of about twenty-three thousand legal decisions and rulings a year. He will insist with some show of pride probably that the law is the foundation of civilization—even of the civilization of today.

Let us put the question to the medical man standing within the that wasteth at noontide. If you will observe carefully you will notice that they are seeking for something and, as they seek, are turning their eyes in your direction.

Why, you may ask, should they turn to you? It is because ~~this thing which they seek~~ is synonymous with youth —dull with eliminate the slavery of our time—the heartless selfishness of the

COMMENCEMENT NUMBER

7

ADDRESS TO THE GRADUATES

By PRESIDENT HODGKINS

On behalf of the University, its trustees, its faculties, and for myself officially and personally, I congratulate you. I wish you Godspeed.

Few of us in the faculty know of the sacrifices that many of you have made—sacrifices of time, sacrifices of money, sacrifices of pleasures—in order to complete the courses for your degrees;

And for you, too, all of you, there should be ever this call to duty.

STATEMENTS BY PRESIDENT HODGKINS IN CONFERRING HONORARY DEGREES

HELEN NICOLAY

Author, cultivator of literature and the fine arts

HAROLD LINDSAY AMOSS*Bacteriologist and immunologist*

Bachelor of Science and Master of Science of the University of Kentucky; for a time a student in the Medical School of George Washington University; later, Doctor of Medicine and Doctor of Public Health of Harvard University. You have used your knowl-

y se Tj 0.004th1j -0.47336 Tw 122.000 Tz -0.235 Tc (700

COMMENCEMENT NUMBER

13

HUSTON THOMPSON

Lawyer, teacher, public official

SUMMARY OF DEGREES CONFERRED AT COMMENCEMENT, JUNE 7, 1922.

IN COURSE

Columbian College

Bachelor of Arts.....	115
Bachelor of Science in Medicine.....	2

College of Engineering

Bachelor of Science—		117
In Architecture	1
In Chemistry	5
In Chemical Engineering	2

