Scammers using promises of credits and loans to businesses up and coming that are opening and businesses that need to be refinanced that use marketing on the internet using fraudulent practices and how to protect yourself

Credit and loans for business owners who really want and need loans not to be taken advantage of due to so many promises of 100% approval of loans after these creditors get your information about you and your business then in the end you find that your email has been flooded with Spam and also no loans have been dispersed and at the same time you can't really figure out which companies out there are legal and real versus the ones that are actually just getting your information and my experience I have actually gone through some things submitting my ideas and things of along the lines of my business and plans for it to get a loan and no loan was submitted to me at all promises were documents were signed and these are things that you can Google and get no results towards what their advertising which is to me and my eyes all a bunch of fraud and scams and I don't think that it should be legal to have stuff like that posted if it's not at all real it's going to harm your business and if it's just people claiming to be these creditors or these businesses and they're not even businesses just fraudulent and why they're even allowed to post advertisements is is a question in itself.
