  - o In posts on March 13, you state: “The Coronavirus hysteria has reached worldwide...[b]uild your immune system with the pictured suggestions [which include EMF remediation and Alkaline pH] as well as D3, olive leaf, allicidin, and aloe detox. Also be sure ALL of your devices have EMF remediation[.] That means buying the remediation patches and every device has them!! Did you know that Wuhan China was the first city to have 15,000 cell towers??...It is being used as a test city for the World which is why the EMF remediation is a necessity!”
  - o In posts on March 16 you state: Most are having feelings of anxiousness or worry during this period of uncertainty which only further depletes the immune system. Staying calm and using your #emfremediation stickers are my TOP #simplesolutions that you can be doing right now to avoid the #coronavirus while also staying quarantined.”
- x On your social media website at <https://www.facebook.com/pg/JulieEHealthandWellness/> post on May 4, you post an article titled, “Higher US COVID19 cases and deaths in 5G states” state: “and here it is...higher rates of CVirus in ~~set~~ with 5 G. Be sure to stop by or call our clinic to purchase your EMF remediation devices!”

It is unlawful under the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 5 et seq. to advertise that a product can prevent, treat, or cure human disease unless you possess competent and reliable scientific evidence, including, when appropriate, well controlled human clinical studies, substantiating that the claims are true at the time they are made. For COVID such study is currently known to exist for the product identified above. Thus, any coronavirus related prevention or treatment claims regarding such product are not supported by competent and reliable scientific evidence. You must immediately cease making all such claims.
